What this booklet is about

Llywodraeth Cymru
Welsh Government

We are the Welsh Government.

We want to make food and drink in schools healthier.

In Wales, children in primary schools get:

- Free school meals.
- Free or low cost milk.
- Free school breakfasts.

Some children in secondary school also get free school meals if they need them.

We want to make sure school food is good quality.

We want to make some changes. For example, changes to:

- What food and drink are offered in schools.

- Guidance on how to help children with healthy eating and drinking.

We want to know what you think about these changes.

We want your views on 3 areas:

1. New rules for food and drink in primary schools.

2. Clearer guides about promoting healthy eating.

3. Food and drink in secondary schools.

Your views will help us make the new guidelines.

There will be new laws about primary school food and drink. These will start in 2026 to 2027.

We are also planning changes for food in secondary schools.

More about healthy school food

Children who eat well learn better, feel better and grow stronger.

School is a place where children spend a lot of time. It is a place where they can learn good eating habits.

We are changing school food rules based on the latest health information.

This will help all children get the healthy food they need.

School meals can:

- Support good eating habits.
- Help children do better at school.
- Save families money.

Some laws and Welsh policies helped us think about the changes.

One of the laws is called The Healthy Eating in Schools (Wales) Measure 2009. This law helps schools make sure students have healthy food and drink.

The changes we want to make are important because:

- Some children are overweight.
- Some children do not get the food they need.

Since 2013 we have made a lot of changes that have made food in schools better.

The changes have also improved things like where our food comes from. For example, using local food.

These are the next steps we want to make to make school food better.

Part 1: Changes to primary school meals

We want to change the rules for nursery and primary school lunches. We want these to be the new rules:

Fruit and vegetables

- At least 2 portions of vegetables every day.
- At least 6 different types of vegetables each week.
- Fruit served every day.
- At least 4 different types of fruit each week.

Starchy carbohydrates

- At least 3 portions of starchy carbohydrates each week. Starchy carbohydrates are foods like potatoes, bread, pasta and rice.
- Bread must be 50% wholegrain. This means half of the bread must be wholegrain.

Meat and fish

- At least 1 portion of red meat each week, but no more than 2 portions.
- Processed meat, like sausages, only once a week.
- No limit on white meat, like chicken.
- Oily fish at least once every 4 weeks.
- Limit processed alternatives to meat and fish, like vegetarian burgers. But include choices for people who do not eat meat or fish.
- Only small amounts of cheese.

Cooking in fats and oils

- Potato foods cooked in oil, only 2 times a week. Chips will be only once a week.
- Deep fried food only once a week.
- Pastry foods only once a week.

Desserts

- Desserts can be served, but sweet baked desserts only 3 times a week. There is no limit on yoghurt or rice pudding.
- All desserts must include fruit or be served with fruit.

Drinks

- Only plain water, plain milk or plant-based drinks allowed.

Meal sizes

- There will be 2 meal sizes. One for infants and one for juniors.
- Unhealthy food will have a maximum size. Healthy foods will have a minimum size.
- Extra bread must be offered to all children.

Changes to primary school breakfasts

We want to make changes to school breakfasts:

- No fruit juice, it has too much sugar.
- Bread must be 50% wholegrain.
- 2 different breakfast sizes. Smaller for infants and larger for juniors.

The new rules will be easier for school cooks to follow.

We also have clearer guidance on how to support different diet needs.

Part 2: Promoting healthy eating and drinking in schools

The new guide will explain clearly:

- What school leaders must do to promote healthy eating and drinking in schools.

- What local councils must do.

- What other groups must do.

Part 3: Food in secondary schools

We think a lot of changes have happened to how secondary school children eat.

We need to learn more about what and how they eat at school.

We want your views on how to give learners healthy food they will enjoy.
